

For Immediate Release

Contact:

Carey Howard, Marketing Analyst
262-369-6000
choward@comcom.com

CCI/CoakleyTech Joins United Nations Global Compact

Hartland, WI (December 15, 2010) — Wisconsin-based CCI/CoakleyTech, a provider of print and document management services, today announced that they are officially signatories to the United Nations Global Compact. Founded by the UN in 2000, the Global Compact is a strategic policy initiative for businesses that are committed to aligning their operations and strategies with ten universally accepted principles in the areas of human rights, labor, environment and anti-corruption.

CCI/CoakleyTech has a strong history of support in all four of the Global Compact's focus areas. In terms of environmental conservation, CCI/CoakleyTech has been a strong proponent of sustainability in its manufacturing facilities since its founding in 1982. And in 2009, the company obtained certifications in both FSC® and SFI® to further support its commitment to the environment. CCI/CoakleyTech is also committed to human rights protection, the abolition of child labor, and to working against corruption both in its U.S. based facilities and from its global strategic partners. "Since its founding, CCI/CoakleyTech has been centered on the same values and principles that the UN's Global Compact is seeking to promote in industries and economies worldwide," says President and CEO Chris Illman. "We're honored to sign on to these ten principles and pledge our support to continue forwarding the Global Compact and to engage in collaborative projects which advance the broader development goals of the United Nations."

As a key requirement of the Global Compact is public accountability and transparency, CCI/CoakleyTech also pledges to submit annually a Communication on Progress (COP) describing their further efforts to implement the ten principles.

About the UN Global Compact

The United Nations Global Compact was proposed and implemented by former UN Secretary-General Kofi Annan in July 2000 and by December 2009, more than 7,000 businesses from 134 countries were participating in the compact. The UN actively partners and monitors the participants and reserves the right to ban participants who are in breach of the compact. Participating companies voluntarily uphold ten principles in the four areas of human rights, labor, environment and anti-corruption. While seeking to promote the Corporate Social Responsibility (CSR) activities of companies as part of their responsibility as corporate citizens, the compact endeavors through these activities to foster a sustainable and inclusive global economy, starting with the achievement of the United Nations Millennium Development Goals.

About CCI/CoakleyTech

CCI/CoakleyTech is a world leader in print and document management solutions. Focusing on Beyond Ink solutions and Intelligent Production processes, the company bundles services like traditional printing, print-on-demand, inventory management, eBusiness applications, and variable information applications into value packages that create complete solutions. These solutions are led by Publication Zone®, an online print and document management system. CCI/CoakleyTech is a privately held corporation owned by TouchPoint Print Solutions Corp., a holding company of Huron Capital Partners LLC. Headquartered in Hartland, Wisconsin, CCI/CoakleyTech operates facilities throughout Wisconsin and Arizona and can be found on the web at www.comcom.com.